ROCKEFELLER'S GOLF SUIT.

What the Old King Recently Wore on His Private Links.

John D. Rockefeller's appearance on his private links in Lakewood, N. J., the other day attired in a satin vest of vivid green, gray striped trousers of the latest cut, yellow shoes and a dark tourist's cap startled his employees, says the New York World. Even Elmer, the grounds keeper, blinked.

The news spread to the village and caused a sensation.

Heretofore a cardigan jacket, black trousers, baggy at the knees, and congress gaiters have been Mr. Rockefeller's golfing togs, and he invariably rode out to the links in a rusty livery hack. Now he rides in a very nobby brougham behind stylish grays.

"Golf has certainly rejuvenated Mr. Rockefeller," said a Lakewood citizen.

Hard Winter in London.

A reporter of the Salvation Army's Social Gazette, London, predicts an extremely hard winter for the unemployed in that city. The reporter appeared in reply to a number of "help wanted" advertisements and found crowds of applicants. For two places as carpenters at $8.87 a week 110 men applied; for a clerk's situation at $6.25 appeared eighty-seven men. Fifty-one waited in the rain for a liftman's berth and sixty for a stoker's at a salary of $6.25, with long hours, while 150 men of all ages between twenty and fifty, some dressed in frock coats and silk hats, applied for a post as a warehouse porter at $5.10 a week.
